

New York Public
Library

TOMO: FRIENDSHIP THROUGH FICTION

An afternoon of storytelling, creativity and outreach for New York teens to support young people in Japan affected by and recovering from the March 2011 earthquake & tsunami disasters.

Tomo, meaning “friend” in Japanese, is a collection of short stories and graphic art for readers age 12 and up, contributed by authors and artists from around the world, all of whom share a connection to Japan. Editor Holly Thompson, graphic artist Tak Toyoshima (“Secret Asian Man”) & other contributors will share their stories and help library patrons write or draw letters of support to teens in the hardest hit areas of Japan.

25 copies of Tomo: Friendship through Fiction-- An Anthology of Japan Teen Stories will be given away

Saturday March 31st, 2pm
Ottendorfer Library, NYPL
135 2nd Ave. Manhattan
N/R/6 AT ASTOR PLACE

Free Admission - RSVP Required:

www.nypl.org/events/calendar | 212-674-0947

tomoanthology.blogspot.com

Edited and with a Foreword
by Holly Thompson

Friendship Through Fiction—An Anthology of Japan Teen Stories

TO BENEFIT YOUNG PEOPLE AFFECTED BY THE 2011 GREAT EAST JAPAN EARTHQUAKE

